Leader in early childhood studies

SEG University and Colleges is one of the leading providers of the Early Childhood Education programmes in the country.

The programme aims to develop students with knowledge and understanding of the care and education of young children by incorporating common core values of early childhood and childcare.

Just as children learn through discovery, SEG strongly emphasises on practicum sessions so that its students are more prepared to work with children in the future.

Students are sent to kindergartens and childcare centres so that they can observe what and how children learn.

New students taking the University of Greenwich (3 + 0) Bachelor of Arts (Hons) in Early Years Education at SEG College Subang Jaya recently had a two-week preparatory programme in January. Many activities were held to get the students ready for the rigours of tertiary level academic study.

A key feature of this undergraduate programme is the workplace experience component that runs through all the years of study.

Students are to serve between 240 and 280 hours a year in kindergarten or daycare settings.

For the new students, there was a special session to give them a glimpse of what to expect from the workplace experience component.

Guest speakers from REAL Kids, one of the nation’s leading providers of child enrichment centres, made a special trip to the campus to give the students an insight into working at their centres.

One of the speakers was K Thilagavathy M Krishnasamy, a REAL Kids management trainee and a graduate of SEG College Subang Jaya, who shared how her SEG experience prepared her to be a teacher for young children.

“SEG has helped me better understand child development. I learnt effective and approachable techniques to reach out to children by understanding their needs and expectations. I am no longer just a passionate early childhood teacher but a child advocate and motivator,” shared K. Thilagavathy.
